

Engaging Reflection

in Health Professional Education and Practice

May 13-15, 2009

Hilton, London Ontario Canada

Featuring:
Arthur Frank
Stephen Kemmis
Jeff Nisker
Nancy Schön
Pam Shakespeare

This inaugural interdisciplinary conference calls together scholars interested in advancing knowledge and scholarship about "reflection" in health professional education and practice. Those who work in the field perceive a widespread need for a scholarly community that brings interdisciplinary groups together to exchange knowledge and to think together about pressing issues and key questions for advancing the field. This conference is a first step in that direction.

Also featuring:

Sarah's Daughters,
a play written by J. Nisker.

Purchase your ticket
when you register,
to ensure a seat!

Engaging Reflection Through:

- reflective practices
- critically reflective and reflexive practices
- mentorship and preceptorship
- narrative
- the arts and humanities
- ethics education and practice

Register online at:

<http://www.reflectivepractice.ca>

Sponsored by:

GAMES - Group for the Advocacy and Advancement of Medical/Dental Education Scholarship

OFFICE OF Interprofessional Health
Education and Research

INSPIRE
Interdisciplinary Network for Scholarship in Professions' Research in Education

Artwork: Dancing Figures by John Davidson